Freebsd makeinfo: not found Error and Solution

Posted by Vivek Gite <vivek@nixcraft.com>

Q. I'm trying to build PHP5 under FreeBSD jail and I'm getting an error that read as follows:

m4.info-[0-9][0-9] ./m4.i[0-9] ./m4.i[0-9][0-9]; do if test -f $f; then mv $f $backupdir; restore=mv; else ;; fi; done; else ;; fi && cd "$am__cwd"; if makeinfo --no-split -l . -o ./m4.info ./m4.texinfo; then rc=0; cd .; else
rc=$?; cd . && $restore $backupdir/* `echo "./m4.info" | sed 's|^\/*$||'`; fi; rm -rf $backupdir; exit $rc
makeinfo: not found
 Error code 127
```

```
Stop in /usr/ports/devel/m4.
 Error code 1
```

```
Stop in /usr/ports/devel/autoconf262.
 Error code 1

```
Stop in /usr/ports/lang/php5.
 Error code 1

How do I get rid of this problem and compile applications?

A. This error only occurs if following line added to /etc/make.conf file before make world:

```
NO_INFO=      true      # do not make or install info files
```

To get rid of this problem remove above line. Next, go to /usr/src/gnu/usr.bin/texinfo and type the following command to install required files:

```
cd /usr/src/gnu/usr.bin/texinfo
```

To install all tools to /, enter:

```
make install
```

To install all tools to jail, enter:

```
make install DESTDIR=/path/to/jail/example.com
```

Now, you should be able to compile ports. Read the following man pages for more information:

```
man ports, make, make.conf
```
